20th Sunday in Ordinary Time

We envision a church where Jesus Christ is proclaimed in a way that when parishioners are gathered, all may encounter the Living Word in their midst.

Live the Faith You Profess

by Br. Silas Henderson, SDS for LPI

We have all been taught, and rightly so, that God is love. We see Jesus as a gentle shepherd, a kind and selfless teacher, who makes space for children, even as he reaches out to the sick and poor. And these images and themes are certainly major elements of Luke's Gospel, which we are hearing in this liturgical year. However, the passage proclaimed on the 20th Sunday of Ordinary Time presents a different — perhaps even startling — facet of Jesus' teachings. The Prince of Peace asks, "Do you think that I have come to establish peace on earth?" Of course, because that's what we've been taught to expect. That is our hope.

In a sense, the passages from Luke's Gospel that we are hearing in these weeks could be folded into the great Wisdom tradition of the Old Testament. We are no longer hearing stories of Jesus' signs and wonders, those moments of revelation that helped those first followers to understand who he is. Rather, now, we are being invited to reflect on how we are to follow this Master Teacher in whom we have come to believe. These Gospel passages invite us to reflect on prayer, works of charity and justice, and the attitudes that should be the hallmark of the followers of Jesus.

Like the earlier Wisdom teachings, these readings are leading us to consider the demands and consequences of an enacted faith. Because at the end of the day, our call to discipleship requires more than simply learning the stories of Jesus and being able to parrot back his teachings. Rather, Divine Wisdom calls us to live what we profess, guided by our faith convictions.

With this Wisdom perspective in mind, we recognize that what Jesus is asking us to reflect on is the prophetic stance that is part of discipleship. However, as we see in the story of Jeremiah proclaimed in the first reading this Sunday, that prophetic stance can put us at odds with those who are opposed to the truth. This was certainly true for Jesus as well.

In a commentary on this Sunday's Gospel, Sister Barbara Reid, O.P., wrote,

"Jesus speaks of the same kind of divided reaction that his ministry provokes. As he ignites in his followers a vision of justice, peace, and well-being for all that could blaze forth, some readily welcome it. Others resist mightily. The resisters are not eager for the burning away of their comforts and privileges as Jesus' way

BISHOP'S MONTHLY PRAYER INTENTION

For the education of our youth in the faith. May parents and teachers share their knowledge with gentleness and patience, and may students thirst for knowledge of the things of this world while always pursuing God's wisdom.

Por la educación en la fe de nuestros jóvenes. Que los padres de familia y maestros puedan compartir su conocimiento con tacto y paciencia, y que los estudiantes tengan sed de conocimiento por las cosas de este mundo, siempre tendiendo a la sabiduría de Dios.

ADMINISTRATION NEWS

The Administration Commission is meeting this Thursday, August 22nd at 6:00 pm in the Library.

We will be reviewing the status of on-going projects, adopting a Bestgen Hall rental policy, reviewing the status of the survey questions and other topics. Just a reminder, keep the surveys coming in as we will start analysis at the end of the month. We still can use some new members. Thank you.

Long Range Planning Surveys:

Surveys are available in the Welcome Center, in the office, and online in the bulletin section. We invite all parishioners and visitors to fill out a survey. Make sure to turn in your survey to the office or to the box in the Welcome Center. You can also email it to:

ourladylake@sbcglobal.net

Surveys are due by August 31st.

Join us every Tuesday morning after mass at 8:45 to pray the rosary together for all special intentions of your family, friends, the parish, the church, the community, the nation, and the world.

PSR NEWS

Hello, Our Lady Parishioners!

Well, summer is almost over for the area kids with school starting on Aug 20. It is my fervent hope that a few small changes can make our PSR students enjoy coming to class, in turn drawing them to Mass. When I arrived a year ago, I was just watching to see how things went and tried to jump in where I could. Having overseen a Catholic School religion curriculum, it is almost discouraging to see students here for only one hour a week; we can only scratch the surface of this faith journey. However, PSR catechists are simply amazing, devoted and faith-filled people who do a great job of teaching our youngsters everything possible in a short amount of time. As we begin our new PSR Year, please find a way to get involved with our youngest parishioners.

ALL classes need a second adult present in case of emergencies, and teaching is not required. We need moms and dads, older siblings, aunts and uncles and grandparents who can stay in the classroom during instruction time. Not only in case of emergencies do we need extra folks, but also to satisfy the of transformation demands ... It is easy to resist the version of a prophet that insists on transformative change. Better to get rid of such an unwelcome messenger and continue on undisturbed. (from “Abiding Word: Sunday Reflections for Year C”)

And it is here that we discover the two-fold challenge of this Sunday's Gospel.

First, do we ignore or try to silent those prophets who are calling for change — change within ourselves, our communities, or even in the Church? Are we willing to risk dialogue and even conversion as we are invited to reflect not only on what is possible, but on what might be essential? This can become especially difficult for us when we are being asked to reconsider beliefs, customs, or practices that are near and dear to us. However, discipleship demands that we do not become complacent or settle for the status quo, particularly when we consider the Gospel's call for justice and the upbuilding of the reign of God.

Second, are we willing to live out our call to be prophets ourselves? Where are the injustices or abuses that need to be named? What wrongs need to be made right? What wounds need to be healed? While we are called to pray for peace, we are also called, by virtue of our baptism, to adopt a prophetic stance and call for change — for conversion — where change is needed. This also means that we have to be courageous enough to stand alone at times.

The way toward the peace called for in the Gospel is not an easy one, because injustice does not die easily. As we continue our journey through Ordinary Time, reflecting on the demands of our discipleship and what it means to truly live the faith we profess, we pray for the gifts of courage, discernment, and fortitude to fulfill the mission that has been entrusted to us by Jesus.
